Allied Aircraft
Back in Action
Damage Five in Air Battles

By The Associated Press
U. S. EIGHTH ARMY
HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Swift Allied jets shot down one Russian-type MIG-15 jet and damaged five in three swirling air battles over northwest Korea today.

At least 112 jets engaged in fights flashing from 30,000 feet down to tree top level.

These were the first jet fights in five days. Murky weather had curtailed jet activity.

Capt. Dennis L. Skeen of Twin Falls, Idaho, bagged the jet shot down today. It was the first time he had run into the Russian Mig. It was his third mission over Korea.

Skeen was leading a flight of four F-84 Thunderjets southwest of Suwon when he spotted eight Mig. Four made runs on the Allied planes. Skeen caught the tail-ender.

Soon after, 37 American F-86 Sabre jets tangled with 40 Mig. In a swirling, 15 minute battle. In the third clash, 16 Mig. jumped seven F-84 Thunderjets escorting an RF-80 jet photo plane.

Fighting Near Yanggu
On the ground, fighting raged in the eastern sector north of Yanggu.

Communist troops Wednesday forced Allied defenders off a commanding height in the "Heart-break Ridge" sector. The Allied forces had won the hill after hard fighting Tuesday midnight and later had hurled back two Red charges.

Other Allied warriors stubbornly defended a second peak northeast of Yanggu for the second straight day against an estimated Communist regiment—about 3,000 troops.

Yanggu is eight miles north of parallel 38 and 35 miles inland from the Korean east coast.

To the east, Allied units halted two smaller Red attacks. The Eighth army reported earlier that three major hills were captured Tuesday by Allied forces on the flaming eastern front.

On one, 206 Reds were killed and 37 captured by Allied infantrymen struggling up rain-swept, muddy slopes.

Red resistance Tuesday on the rest of the eastern front was moderate.

Allied forces have driven nearly 15 miles northward in a month of savage fighting against solidly dug-in Reds in the east.

Tank-led Allied troops on the west-central front threw two surprise attacks at the Reds Tuesday but were repulsed each time.

The Allied blows were aimed at a hill mass west of Chorwon, 18 miles north of Parallel 38. It was the southwestern peg of the Reds' old iron triangle staging area.

A cold drenching rain, mindful of the bitter Korean winter to come, undermined Allied attacks Tuesday. It also hampered air attacks on North Korean rail and road routes and cut down on the air force support of ground troops.

The North Korean radio at Pyongyang Wednesday said the Communists sank an Allied destroyer in Wonsan harbor on the east coast and shot down 12 planes, including three B-29s.

The navy public information office in Tokyo said it had no reports of an Allied destroyer being sunk. A Far East Air Forces spokesman said no B-29s have been lost to enemy action in Korea for several weeks.

Sgt. R. E. Bull Is Back From Korea

Mrs. Evelyn Bull, 600 West Second, received a telephone call Tuesday night, from her son, Sgt. Robert E. Bull, from Camp Stoneham, San Francisco, Calif., telling her he had just arrived from Korea.

Sgt. Bull, who is with the 187th Regimental Combat Team, came by plane from Korea where he has been for more than a year. His wife, Mrs. Dorothy Bull, is in Nashville, Tenn., but will come to Sedalia to join her husband who expects to arrive home soon.

No Handshakes Permitted With Jurors
ST. LOUIS, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Circuit Judge William B. Flynn broke precedent yesterday when he refused to let a successful defendant shake hands with the jurors.

Leon A. Klink, used car dealer, was acquitted of a charge of molesting two young children.

He went over to thank the jurors.

Judge Flynn said sternly: "No! No! We'll have none of that!" He then walked off the bench.

Klink has appealed a $500 fine and 10-month workhouse sentence on another child molestation charge.

Talk on Movie Industry to Lions Club

Jack Braunagle
Speaker at the Noon Luncheon

"The Motion Picture Industry's Answer to Life Magazine" was the topic used by Jack Braunagle, general manager of Commonwealth Theatres, in his talk to the Sedalia Lions club at noon today at the Bothwell hotel. The speaker was introduced by Ed Kirk, program chairman, manager of the 50 Highway Drive-In Theatre.

Mr. Braunagle is National chairman of the Owners of Drive-In Theaters association. He is to speak at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel in New York City, this next week.

Mr. Braunagle discussed the motion picture industry and problems, the most recent the attack by Life magazine on the motion picture industry. He explained the industry when TV first began had a fear that it would injure the industry, but "that fear is over," he said, "and the past year records show the article as appearing in Life was not true. Motion picture theatres have shown a decided increase in box office receipts as well as in attendance."

In his talk he compared the monies taken in through the industry comparing it with past years and the present years. He explained the industry has opened 1,446 indoor theatres and 2,500 outdoor theatres in the past year in comparison with the article which declared motion picture houses were closing. The article, Mr. Braunagle claimed did not mention the opening of new theatres but told only of those closing.

"Help To Business"
"The motion picture industry has been inspired to join hands and fight together," he said, "due to the most critical article ever written of the motion picture industry. It has done one thing for the industry; it has brought them together to fight shoulder to shoulder and prove to the public that it isn't a dying business but is thriving. We have the records to prove it."

In his talk he cited the closing of the Sedalia theatres several years ago and how it hurt business in general. The motion picture theatre is a help to other business in a town or city, he declared in closing.

Guests today were Bert King, Lion zone chairman from 29 Palms, California, and Lion Ben Moore of Booneville, guest of the club. J. T. Goshen, of the Up-town Theatre, guest of Joe Rudnick of the Fox Theatre, Leonard Exum, Belleville, Ill., of A. B. Warren, Herbert E. Hall, Jr., Central Coal and Heating Co., introduced by James McNeil as a new member of the club, Lion H. F. Deskins, Jefferson City of Lloyd Phillips.

President Harold Seaberg, presided over the meeting.

The Fourth Annual Pet Show sponsored by the Lions is to be held on Sunday, October 7. Bob Cain, chairman of the committee announced the program will be carried out on similar lines of the previous shows, and he was hoping for a much larger entry list, than at any of the three previous shows.

Two Lose Lives In Auto Accident
BELTON, Mo., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Two persons were killed early today one mile east of here in an automobile accident blamed on a light failure.

The state highway patrol identified the dead as Alvis C. Grimes, 45, and Mrs. Ova M. Oakley, about 45, both of Kansas City.

The patrol said the lights on the car driven by Grimes failed the junction of highways 58 and 71 and Grimes failed to make a turn.

Injured was Joe Oakley, 21-year-old son of Mrs. Oakley. He was hospitalized at Kansas City. The patrol said he suffered lacerations, bruises and possible fractures.

Find Boy Friend Of Missing Woman

PARIS, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Police have a 75 per cent score today in the mystery of the hotel manageress, murdered and sealed in a cellar wall.

They have found three of four persons missing in the case — one dead and two alive.

Today the police arrested Abella Souahit, 25, in Algeria for questioning. The young Arab denied any knowledge of the crime but admitted being the boy friend of Madame Sylvie Paul, 38.

Madame Paul, a friend of the murdered woman and her successor as hotel manageress, is still missing.

Yesterday, police discovered the dead woman's niece, Denise Le Roy, 12, alive at a country home in Normandy.

Sunday, they found the body of Madame Jeanne Perron, 52, sealed in the wall of the murky little Hotel du Theatre near the Eiffel Tower. Police said she had been dead four months.

Police in Paris said they learned little from Denise. They said Madame Paul told the girl, "your aunt did something foolish and went to jail."

The women were celmates in prison five years ago.

Deep Concern About the King

Believed Talk
Sets Stage For a General Election

LONDON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Several London newspapers demanded today that King George VI's subjects be told more about his illness.

A wave of concern swept the nation on the heels of a medical bulletin from the king's doctors reporting cryptically that "structural changes" have occurred in one of his lungs.

The king had no public engagements today but was reported to be up and around at Buckingham palace. Outside, a small crowd milled throughout the day.

Lord Beaverbrook's mass circulation Evening Standard declared in an editorial that "more specific information should be released as soon as possible" about what is wrong with the king.

"Rumor feeds on ignorance," said the Standard. "The British peoples all over the world should be told the facts."

The Evening Star said "it is to be hoped" that the doctors "will continue to keep us informed as fully as possible on his progress."

The Evening News suggested that the king's 15 years of "rebellious and selfless devotion to duty" may have led to a condition "in which mental and spiritual causes have visible, bodily effects."

Starting at dawn, London news stands did a land-office business as commuters snatched papers carrying headlines like "serious news" and "king's lung is affected."

Little knots of early risers gathered at a gilt-spiked fence in front of Buckingham palace. They hoped to get an early morning bulletin on the king's condition.

Serious Ailment
Doctors for the tired monarch disclosed last night that "structural changes have developed" in one of his lungs, indicating a serious ailment. A medical bulletin last night gave no explanation of the condition.

Nine doctors signed the bulletin, including a tuberculosis specialist. A London lung specialist — not one of the nine examining the king — said "structural changes" can mean any of several lung diseases. He said the wording of the bulletin "suggests the doctors are not sure what is the whole trouble."

Queen Elizabeth, Princess Elizabeth and her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, returned by plane last night from a vacation in Scotland. The princess and the duke had scheduled their return some time ago but the queen had intended staying on at Balmoral castle for several weeks.

The king himself went about that.

Sanction by Committee on Redistricting

Setup as Planned
Is Assailed by
The Republicans

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 19.—(AP)—A Senate committee approved last night congressional redistricting bill attacked by Republicans as "an outrageous gerrymander" and "a political monstrosity."

Republican leaders said if it goes through unchanged, they will force a referendum election on it. In other words, they are ready to gamble on letting 1952 congressional candidates run at large on a statewide basis.

The committee vote approving the bill was 5 to 2. The only two Republicans present were Sens. Hartwell G. Crain (R) of St. Louis county and J. E. Curry (R) of Ava.

Sen. J. F. Patterson (D) of Caruthersville, chairman, said the committee's bill would be reported out tomorrow substantially unchanged. That would put it in position for debate next week.

Byers Agrees On Move
William E. Byers, Republican state chairman, agreed tonight with Sen. R. Jasper Smith (R) of Springfield) that a Democratic plan for congressional redistricting would be referred to the people if the legislature passes it in its present form.

If the bill is not made more fair, Smith told a Senate committee, "I can predict it will not become effective by the last date for filing for office."

"Unless it is modified to provide a more equitable representation for the minority there is no question but that this proposal will be referred in a referendum election."

Byers called the Democratic plan "a political monstrosity." He said he was 100 per cent behind Smith.

1952 Action Recalled
If the proposal is referred to the people and does not become effective before the deadline for 1952 candidates to file, all congressional candidates next year would have to run on a statewide basis as they did 20 years ago.

Smith spoke as the Senate minority floor leader. He called the Democratic plan "one of the most outrageous gerrymandering proposals that could be devised." He said the men who set up the present districts were amateurs in comparison.

He conceded that Missouri is normally a Democratic state—"But, hate to admit it, but it is," he added, "even minorities are entitled to representation in Congress."

McMahon Asserts A-Bomb Can Be Built for $240,000 Each

By Elton C. Fay
Associated Press
Military Affairs Reporter

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Can the U.S. make atomic bombs in abundance and for only $240,000 apiece instead of the present multi-million dollar cost?

Senator Brian McMahon (D-Conn.), top man in Congress on atomic affairs, says yes.

Atomic bottlenecks in materials, production, equipment and design have been broken and the nation can now turn the weapons out in mass production at a cost less than that for a tank, says the senator. (The current price tag on a medium tank is $240,047.)

In a Senate speech yesterday, McMahon said he wanted to report that:

"There is virtually no limit and no limiting factor upon the number of A-bombs which the United States can manufacture, given time and a decision to proceed all-out."

The time he put at three years. If, said McMahon, the U. S. will provide this ample arsenal of atomic arms, there will be

Collapse To Case On Graft

Harry Gross, Star
Witness, Refuses To Testify Even
Under Dire Threat

By Robert Farrington
NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Kings county Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz today dismissed the indictment against 18 policemen accused of taking bribes after gambler Harry Gross defiantly refused to give testimony.

The judge's action came after the prosecution conceded that without Gross' testimony, it could not hope to go on with the trial.

In throwing the case out, Leibowitz sentenced the bally gambler to 60 months in jail for contempt of court, and $15,000 in fines.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Brooklyn's mass police-bribery trial collapsed today, as star witness gambler Harry Gross doggedly refused to testify.

For all intents and purposes, the case is over, Assistant District Attorney Julius Helfand told the court.

His voice trembling, Helfand said that Gross' seemingly impracticable stand had deprived the prosecution of its principal evidence.

However, he asked that Kings County Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz continue his questioning of Gross, in order to build up a series of contempt citations and penalties against him.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Bookie Harry Gross, angry and defiant, declared in court today he will not testify in the graft trial of 18 policemen "now or ever" because he didn't want to endanger his family.

"I'm thinking of my wife and children," he insisted.

Threats by Kings county Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz to send him to jail "for a thousand years" failed to change his stubborn stand.

The gambler's refusal to talk could break up the sensational trial in which policemen are accused of having been paid off at the rate of $1,000,000 a year to protect Gross' huge bookmaking syndicate.

"We have no weapon in our hands to compel him to testify," District Attorney Miles McDonald said. "I don't know if we can salvage anything from this case I see very little hope."

McDonald scoffed at Gross' worry about his family and said "we have evidence that a substantial sum of money has been paid" to the gambler to seal his lips.

The payoff, McDonald said, apparently was made when Gross eluded his guards and dropped from sight for a day last week. He was found at a New Jersey race track.

Reluctantly Comes Back
After Gross declared his refusal to testify today — for the second day in a row — he stomped down from the witness stand, but Judge Leibowitz sternly ordered him back.

"You come back here and take that stand," the judge shouted. "If you don't I'll chain you to the chair with handcuffs."

Gloowering, Gross complied.

Threatening and pleading at intervals, the judge sought to get Gross to continue. But the moody gambler said he was afraid his testimony would endanger his family.

"I'm thinking of my family the same as any normal man would," he said. "I'm thinking of my wife and children."

The judge, referring to letters that have threatened the lives of Gross' family if he testifies, conceded that "there is no doubt, somebody threatened you."

But he assured Gross the district attorney's office would provide his family with protection.

"What am I going to do?" Gross snapped. "Have protection all my life? I want peace of mind. I'd sooner go to jail. I absolutely refuse to answer, now or later."

Scouts District Meet Tonight

The September district meeting of the Boy Scouts will be held tonight at the Evangelical and Reformed church at Fourth and Vermont at 7:30 p. m. Plans for the new Fall Round-up program will be announced. Cline Cain, the district commissioner, requests that all Scouters and Cubbers be in attendance.

Scouts from Troop 58, Sacred Heart school, under the direction of Dan Drew, scoutmaster, will give a demonstration on the roll call and inspection procedure recently adopted.

Estimate on Yield of New Tax Measure

Senate Group is Expectant it Will be
$5,506,000,000

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The Senate finance committee today reported its new tax increase bill would yield an estimated $5,506,000,000 a year.

This estimate, prepared by the group's staff of experts, was well under the $6,000,000,000 estimate given earlier to newsmen by Chairman George (D-Ga.).

The $5,506,000,000 figure was contained in the committee's formal report distributed to senators shortly before the Senate was scheduled to begin debate on the measure. Floor consideration may start late today or tomorrow.

The report said that the 13 members of the committee believe the limit has about been reached on increases in income taxes both from individuals and corporations.

It pointed out that a 1950 revenue act hiked rates on all taxpayers by $6,100,000,000 annually after the Korean war broke out.

Then an excess profits boost was voted late in the year; this increased revenues by $3,900,000,000 annually.

These two measures, combined with the pending bill, would mean a hike in federal revenues of more than $15,500,000,000 in a little more than a year.

"Never before has so much additional revenue been raised in so short a period of time," the report declared.

Intent To Raise More
Despite this, Senator Humphrey (D-Minn.) said today he and other senators will try to raise the proposed tax hike to at least $7,000,000,000 a year.

Beginning tomorrow, Democratic leader McFarland of Arizona plans to start sessions two hours earlier than usual in an effort to get the bill through speedily.

Humphrey told a reporter he and his associates, including Senators Douglas (D-Ill.) and Lehman (D-Lib. N.Y.), feel at least $7,000,000,000 in new revenue will be needed for a balanced budget in the fiscal year which began July 1st.

For this reason, he said, the group will sponsor amendments to restore cuts made by the finance committee in the $7,200,000,000 tax boosting bill passed by the House. President Truman asked for $10,000,000,000.

George told newsmen he expected amendments such as those planned by the Humphrey group.

"It's all right with me if anyone wants to offer amendments to take more money out of the pockets of the American people," the veteran chairman commented. "I'm not going to do it."

George would not predict the outcome.

Humphrey said his group probably will offer amendments to:

1. Restore the 12½ per cent individual income tax hike voted by the House. The finance committee voted an 11 per cent boost on most persons with higher treatment for those in the soft brackets. The House boost would raise an estimated $2,854,000,000 a year, $460,000,000 more than the Senate committee version.

2. Put back the excess profits provision in the House bill. This lowers the average earnings credit to 75 per cent of average base period earnings; it is 85 per cent in present law. The finance committee knocked out this change and thus lost $610,000,000 in annual revenue.

3. Make the corporation income tax hike retroactive to Jan. 1. This year as voted by the House instead of April 1 as fixed by the Senate committee. This would restore about $500,000,000 of revenue for the current tax year.

4. Restore a House bill provision for 20 per cent withholding tax on dividends, interest and royalties. The House estimated this would bring in $323,000,000 of annual revenue.

Lutherans Adopt $5,250,000 Budget
ST. LOUIS, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The Fiscal Conference of the Lutheran church—Missouri—adopted a $5,250,000 budget for the next year, effective Feb. 1. This is the latest budget in the church's 104-year history.

Of the total budget, $2,000,000 was allocated for establishment of new churches in this hemisphere and new foreign missions.

The budget also provides $1,800,000 for minister and teacher training and $740,000 to supplement the pension fund for retired and disabled ministers.

Armstrong Tries To End All Trade Between US-Czechs

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Rep. Armstrong (R-Mo.) introduced a bill Tuesday to sever all the trade relations between the United States and Czechoslovakia.

"I have taken this step as one more move to express the determination of our government and people to force the release of William N. Oatis, American newspaper correspondent imprisoned last July on false charges by the Communist regime of Czechoslovakia," he said in a statement.

Armstrong said he was "disappointed" that President Truman had not already broken off trade relations with Czechoslovakia, and added:

"I feel, therefore, that Congress itself should make the move to hit this Red regime where it will hurt most, by breaking off all trade relations."

Oatis was chief of the Associated Press bureau in Prague at the time of his arrest. His imprisonment on charges of spying has been condemned by the State Department and severely criticized by many other groups in this country.

Claims Boyle Contacted Him On RFC Loans
W. E. Willett
Is Witness at Hearing Today

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—William E. Willett, former RFC director, testified today that high White House aides and William M. Boyle, Jr., Democratic national chairman, contacted him about RFC loans.

Willett told Senate investigators he didn't consider this using "influence," but added:

"You can call it influence if you want to."

Willett testified in an investigation of charges that Boyle, in particular, used political influence on the lending operations of the RFC (Reconstruction Finance Corporation).

He told the Senate investigations subcommittee he received at least 100 calls from representatives of the Democratic national committee on behalf of persons who had business with the agency.

Another former RFC director, Harvey Gunderson, testified that in five years with the lending agency, he received only one call from either major party headquarters concerning loans.

That call, he said, came from Guy Gabrielson, Republican national chairman, who is president and general counsel of Carthage Hydrocol Co.

Francis D. Flanagan, subcommittee counsel, also said he has evidence Gabrielson contacted the RFC after he became chairman.

Flanagan told senators he had witnesses who would so testify.

Carthage-Hydrocol obtained 3 loans for a total of $18,500,000 for a plant at Brownsville, Tex., to convert natural gas into high octane gasoline. The loans were made before Gabrielson became GOP chairman.

Gunderson said Gabrielson talked with him about the project after taking over as GOP chief. He said, however, he didn't recall they talked of anything but construction details.

Flanagan spoke up to say he had talked with RFC examiner James O. Hoover, who said Gabrielson in April, May, 1950, asked a modification in the terms of the third Carthage-Hydrocol loan for $6,000,000. Flanagan said Hoover reported the changes asked by Gabrielson were made.

The current investigation centers in charges that Boyle received $8,000 from the American Lithoform Corp., a St. Louis printing firm, after the company got a total of $8,000 in RFC loans. Boyle has said he paid legal fees by the firm but has denied having anything to do with getting the loans.

Willett testified today that Donald S. Dawson and John R. Steelman, advisers to President Truman, and Matthew Connelly, a secretary to the President, had discussed RFC loans with him.

He called Dawson "a friend of mine" (Please turn to Page 8, Column 5)

McCarthy Asks Sen. Hennings To Stay-Out Of Ouster Trial

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—(P)—Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) suggested Tuesday that Senator Hennings (D-Mo.) step aside in hearings on a resolution aimed at McCarthy's ouster from the Senate.

McCarthy claimed—and Hennings' office confirmed—that a member of Hennings' St. Louis law firm was representing one of the 11 Communist party officials found guilty of conspiracy to advocate the overthrow of the government.

Hennings is a member of a Senate elections subcommittee headed by Senator Gillette (D-Iowa), which tomorrow considers a resolution by Senator Benton (D-Conn.) on the question of expelling McCarthy.

The subcommittee expects to decide whether to hold hearings on the Benton resolution, and to discuss McCarthy's demand for the right to cross-examine witnesses.

Question Raised In Letter
McCarthy raised the question of Hennings' position in a letter to the Missouri Senator. In it, he said he understood Hennings' law firm represented the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, and that a member of the firm, John Raeburn Green, represented the Editor of the Daily Worker, John Gates.

Hennings was in New York. But office aides said he knew nothing in advance of Green's decision to represent Gates in an appeal for a rehearing of his case.

They made available a letter from Green in which he said he was representing Gates without charge because he was convinced the Supreme court's decision in the case of the 11 Communists "marks a definite contraction of the limits of freedom of speech and of the press."

McCarthy's letter to Hennings said the activities of Hennings' law firm "raises the very important question of whether you should disqualify yourself" on the Benton ouster resolution.

"As you of course know, the Post-Dispatch has vigorously condemned the conviction of the 11 Communist leaders and has editorialized against my anti-Communist fight along the same lines followed by the Daily Worker," McCarthy said.

No Slur Intended
Saying he did not "intend even remotely to infer that you are sympathetic to the Communist cause," McCarthy added:

"However, I am sure you will agree with me that regardless of how honestly and sincerely you may perform your duties on that committee, the general public will have little confidence in a committee report censoring McCarthy for fighting Communists when one of the members of the committee is on the payroll of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, and whose law partner is representing in a criminal action one of the 11 top Communist, who were convicted for treason."

The Post-Dispatch said in St. Louis it had no prior statement to make about McCarthy's letter.

Communist Goal
SRINAGAR, Kashmir—(P)—The Communist regime in West China's Sinkiang province announced in an official broadcast monitored here that all anti-Red forces in the area would be "totally liquidated" by the end of 1951.

"When we have cleared the country of the enemies," declared Sinkiang's commanding General Wang Chin, "the new government can proceed with a program of land reforms."

Springfield Police Nab Mexico, Mo. Escapees

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 19.—(P)—Two youthful escapees from a Mexico, Mo., jail, one of them armed, were captured in a Springfield theater last night.

They are Robert MacWhitney, 22, and his brother, Jack, 20 both originally of Springfield.

The two were arrested 30 minutes after a filling station holdup at Mexico last week in which they reportedly took more than $300.

They forced their way out of Audrain county jail at gunpoint Thursday.

Springfield officers said the youths told them tonight they used a .22 caliber pistol given them by a jail trusty. They said they spent Thursday night in a bean field near Mexico, then separated and hitchhiked to Springfield.

An anonymous tip led to their capture. Robert was carrying a .22 caliber pistol when caught.

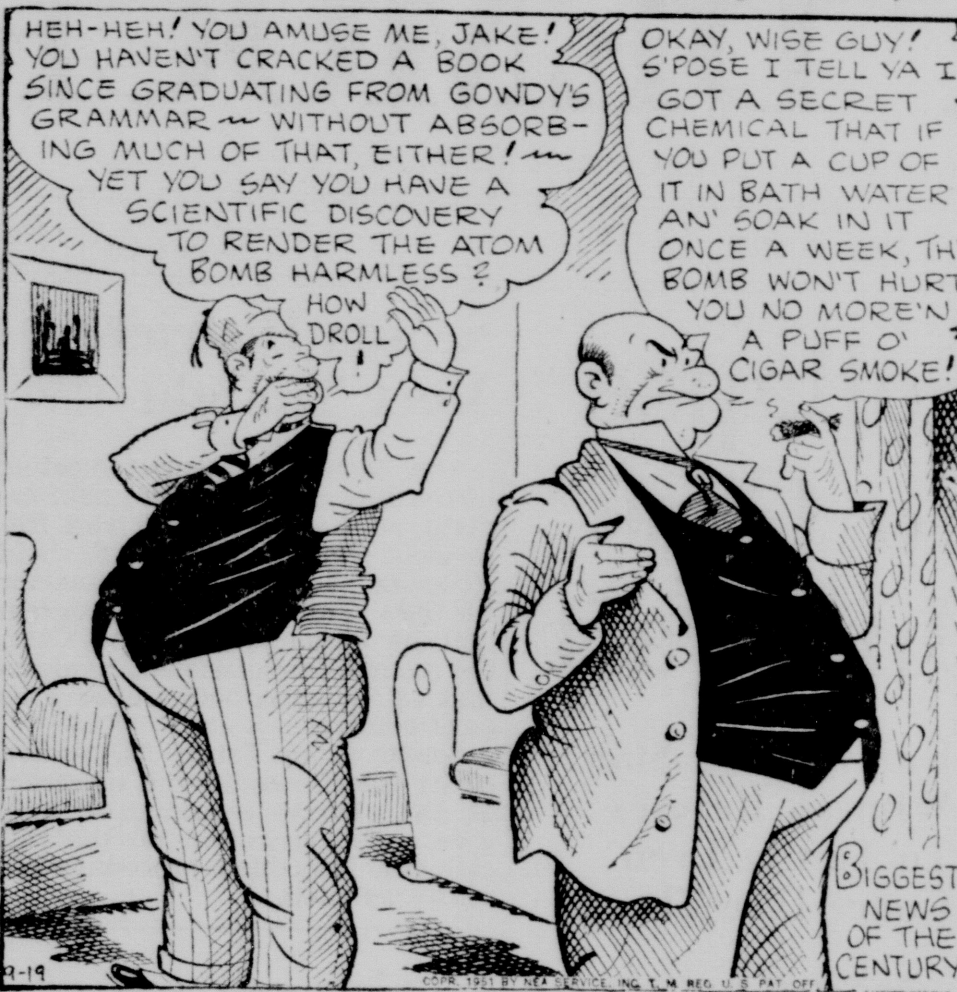

They are being held pending arrival of Missouri officers.

Maine Senator Urges Recall Of Bill Boyle

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—(P)—Senator Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine) assailed as "most unconvincing" the "hokus-pocus presto-chango story" of William M. Boyle's official connections with the Democratic party about the time a St. Louis printing firm was getting an RFC loan.

In a bristling Senate speech, she urged that Boyle and two of his former law partners be recalled by Senate investigators to explain their "constant weaving" between Democratic headquarters and "their lucrative private work."

Boyle is now chairman of the Democratic National Committee. His part, if any, in obtaining a Reconstruction Finance Corporation loan for the American Litho-fold Co., of St. Louis in 1949 has been under study by a Senate investigations subcommittee.

To Fight For Kaysinger Dam

LOWRY CITY, Mo., Sept. 19.—(P)—One hundred fifty landowners and farmers from the Grand and Osage river valleys organized here to fight for the Kaysinger Bluff dam project on the Osage river.

After electing officers and a board of directors, the group signed a petition in favor of the dam and also voted to send the following telegram to Senator James P. Kem, Senator Thomas Hennings, Jr., Representative Clarence Cannon, Representative O. K. Armstrong and Lt. Gen. Lewis Pick:

"We, the undersigned newly formed group of farmers and property owners of the Osage valley, urge the adoption without further delay of the Hennings-Carlson flood control bill in its entirety. We represent the persons directly affected by the Kaysinger dam."

Speakers from the audience said they hadn't taken any good crops from their bottomlands for the last five to 12 years.

"It's good land," one man said. "It's so good that you can look at it in the spring and can't help going out and planting a crop. Then the floods wash the crop out. The next year we do the same thing."

IT'S A FIREBALL ENGINE

Maybe you're missing something BIG

WE know how you feel when a car has given you faithful service. You like it. You're loyal to it. And that's only human.

But just suppose you found out that some other car could make familiar roads seem a lot smoother.

Suppose some other car held the curves in a way you'd never felt before.

Suppose some other car had more thrilling power—steered like a dream—held its course like an airliner on the beam—and let you finish a long day's drive feeling daisy fresh.

Wouldn't you feel you're missing something big unless you tried it out?

There is such a car. Its name is Buick.

It has big soft coil springs on every wheel. It has a Fireball Engine. It has a "front-end geometry" that does miracles with steering. And it has Dynaflo Drive.*

And incidentally, it wears a price tag

The hostess served refreshments at the close of the meeting. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. John Daniels, October 11.

Three Point Plan As to Iran Oil

By Edward E. Bomar
WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The United States made public today a three-point proposal for reviving deadlocked British-Iranian talks over control of Iran's strategic oil industry.

President Truman told Iranian Prime Minister Mossadeq in a letter outlining the American proposals that Iran must be "practical" if her dispute with Britain—generally viewed as dangerous to Middle Eastern peace—is to be settled.

Harriman wrote Mossadeq that "negotiations can soon be resumed" if the premier accepts the U.S. proposals as a basis for discussion. This might indicate Harriman had talked them over, at least informally, with the British, and got their approval.

The three points called for "competent" management of the Iranian oil industry, under the aegis of the company Iran set up after nationalization; compensation to Britain, and British control of overseas sale and distribution of Iranian oil products.

Refusing to transmit a 15-day Iranian ultimatum to Britain, President Truman's foreign affairs assistant said the terms laid down by Mossadeq in the ultimatum were largely the same as those the British rejected last month when negotiations stalled. Harriman went to Tehran, Iran's capital, in a fruitless attempt to end the dispute brought on by Iranian nationalization of her British-run oil industry.

Harriman said bluntly that both sides must show good will and give recognition to the "practical business and technical aspects" of the international oil industry. He urged, "as a sincere friend of Iran," that the prime minister reconsider his ultimatum.

Harriman's reply and the ultimatum message from Mossadeq were published by the State Department at the same time they were made public by the Iranian government at Tehran. They represented the latest turn of the protracted crisis which the U. S. has sought to help settle. Mossadeq sent the ultimatum to Harriman, to take effect 15 days after Harriman delivered it. This roundabout method was widely interpreted as leaving the door open for Harriman to do just what he has—pocket the ultimatum and propose new talk terms.

Airing on Fund To Rehabilitate

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—President Truman's request for a $400,000,000 fund for rehabilitation of flood-stricken areas in the midwest gets an airing today before a House appropriations subcommittee.

Recommendations and information compiled by government agencies on the billion dollar-plus flood which hit Kansas, Missouri and other midwest states get a close scrutiny by the subcommittee at a closed hearing.

A. E. Howse is the chief witness. He is a special representative of mobilization director Charles E. Wilson, who has coordinated reports made by the government agencies on flood damage.

The $400,000,000 requested by the President would include direct relief in the form of outright grants in some cases to those who sustained damage in the devastating floods as well as loans and aid to state and local governments. In addition to the relief fund, Congress has before it requests for additional millions to rush flood control works in the area.

The Senate tacked onto an appropriation bill funds to initiate or plan certain dams and other flood control works in the strategic areas. The House is being asked to concur.

This includes $5,000,000 for the Tuttle Creek dam on the Big Blue river in Kansas, $3,000,000 for the Toronto dam and additional millions for other works.

President Truman flew over the area shortly after the flood for a first hand inspection of the damage and only recently visited some sections again on his way back from the San Francisco peace treaty conference.

Pension Increase To 24,000 Vets

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—About 24,000 war veterans will share the pension increase voted by Congress yesterday over President Truman's veto. That figure might rise to more than 300,000 in the future.

The measure boosted to $120 a month the pension for low-income veterans who were disabled so severely in civilian life that they require constant aid and attendance.

The Veterans Administration today estimated that the increase will apply immediately to some 23,700 veterans of World War I, 400 of World War II, 50 from the Spanish-American war and an unspecified number from the Korean war.

However, VA said that on July 31 it was paying "non-service-connected" pensions to 282,333 veterans of World War I and 30,406 veterans of World War II.

A VA spokesman added that all of these veterans are permanently and totally disabled, but that "most of them are not flat on their back and therefore are capable of following a substantially gainful occupation."

He said that naturally, as they get older, more and more of the disabled men will require constant attendance. Many will be barred from the pension by income limitations, however.

President Truman, in vetoing the measure, estimated that it would cost $16,700,000 in the first year, and almost $400,000,000 a year toward the end of the century.

The pension rate heretofore has been $60 a month until the veteran has been getting it for 10 consecutive years or until he becomes 65, when it increased to $72 a month.

McMahon Asserts A-Bomb Can Be Built For $240,000 Each

for a military organization using atomic weapons as primary armament.

The air force now has bomber units trained and equipped for using atomic bombs. The army is putting a combat unit into actual atomic explosion tests in Nevada. The navy has carrier and air crews trained for atomic bomb use.

But all of this, except perhaps in the case of the air force, has been directed toward use of atomic weapons only as a specialized major armament.

What McMahon proposes is a "revolution in military firepower."

But no one expects, nor does McMahon suggest, that the transition will be abrupt or that all present weapons will disappear from American armament.

The last great revolution in firepower was the invention of gunpowder. But hundreds of years later the spear, made obsolete by the bullet, still exists in the form of the bayonet.

McMahon estimates it will take three years to get into mass production of atomic bombs. It will take at least that long or much longer to produce some of the other weapons he mentions.

What about making atomic bombs in limitless quantity? Perhaps one vitally important material will be the thorium mentioned by Rep. Durham (D-NC), vice chairman of the Senate House atomic committee. Thorium in itself isn't fissionable and won't provide chain reaction, but it can be worked with uranium 235 to produce U-233, an ingredient for bombs.

Some thorium comes from sands in a few American states. Brazil has some. India has substantial resources.

A new machine—called a breeder reactor—is designed to make it possible to convert thorium and U-238 into fissionable materials at an efficient rate. U-238 makes up more than 99 per cent of the world's uranium, but it is not fissionable in its natural state.

McMahon, who pitched his speech to the idea that such atomic might in the hands of the U. S. would deter Russia from launching war, said:

"I am horrified at the final implications of the atomic arms race. I shudder to think of the little packages of pent-up disaster

Sanction by Committee on Redistricting

gress and this is designed to keep them from getting it."

GOP 'Has No Chance'
Smith said the Democratic plan shifts Republican counties around so there is no chance for them to be represented in Congress.

Republicans, he said, have a right to expect "some element of basic fairness" in the redistricting.

Then he added the threat that if they don't get it, they will block the whole thing and force candidates to run at large.

Smith also objected to putting Greene and Jasper counties in the same congressional district.

Proposed Districts
The whole fight developed because the 1950 census forced Missouri to trim its districts from 13 to 11.

Here is the lineup approved by the committee:

Districts 1, 2 and 3 — St. Louis and St. Louis county.

District 4 — The eastern part of Jackson county, plus Lafayette, Johnson, Henry and St. Clair.

District 5 — The western part of Jackson county, plus Cass, Bates and Vernon.

District 6 — Buchanan, Platte, Clay, Clinton, Ray, Caldwell, Holt, Andrew, DeKalb, Daviess, Harrison, Gentry, Worth, Nodaway, Atchison, Linn and Livingston.

District 7 — Greene, Christian, Douglas, Ozark, Taney, Stone, Barry, Lawrence, McDonald, Newton, Jasper, Barton, Dade, Cedar, Polk.

District 8 — Dallas, Laclede, Webster, Wright, Pulaski, Texas, Howell, Phelps, Dent, Shannon, Oregon, Crawford, Washington, Iron, Reynolds, Carter, Ripley, Wayne, Madison, St. Francois, Jefferson.

District 9 — Callaway, Montgomery, Warren, St. Charles, Lincoln, Audrain, Pike, Ralls, Monroe, Marion, Shelby, Lewis, Clark, Scotland, Knox, Schuyler, Adair.

That we call atomic bombs being multiplied and mass-production on a staggering scale.

His statement was kindred to a question which has been troubling military men since the strategic bombings of World War II.

It is better to destroy, to obliterate an enemy nation or to defeat the armed forces of the enemy and occupy the country?

If the U. S. forges the mass atomic instrument proposed by McMahon, it probably will be in position to do either.

Deep Concern About the King

his peoples' business last night. He had a 75-minute session with Prime Minister Clement Attlee in Buckingham palace. Some believe the talk set the stage for a general election in October or November. Most newspapers carried editorials wishing the king well and at least one, The Daily Mail, called for cancellation of George's Australian trip in January if there is the slightest fear it might affect his health.

Many Britons scanned the list of nine doctors attending the king in an effort to guess the nature of the disease announced by the cryptic bulletin. Beside the tuberculosis specialist, the doctors include specialists in kidney and arterial diseases, pneumonia, thyroid surgery, respiratory and chest diseases and radiology.

There is plenty of speculation on the significance of Attlee's call on the monarch. The Daily Mirror predicted a general election for Oct. 25 and claimed Attlee told the king his intention at the palace meeting.

Election Date Oct 25

LONDON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Britain will have a general election Oct. 25 with Winston Churchill's Conservative party bidding to oust the Labor government of Prime Minister Attlee, an informed source reported today.

The report came from the lobby (parliamentary) correspondent of the British press association, who usually writes with official guidance. Attlee's press spokesman, asked for comment, said "There is nothing official — yet."

Two London newspapers said the Oct. 25 date had been chosen.

The apparent willingness of the Labor government to risk an election so soon indicates that Attlee's party is reasonably hopeful by that time of overcoming some of the current popular resentment at the Putnam, Sullivan, Grundy, Mercer, Gasconade, Franklin.

District 10 — Ste. Genevieve, Perry, Bollinger, Cape Girardeau, Stoddard, Scott, Mississippi, New Madrid, Pemiscot, Dunklin, Butler.

District 11 — Cole, Osage, Maries, Miller, Camden, Morgan, Moniteau, Cooper, Boone, Howard, Randolph, Macon, Chariton, Carroll, Saline, Pettis, Benton, Hickory.

Explain Law on Compensation

The meeting on the Unemployment Compensation Law held Tuesday night in the assembly room of the court house was attended by about 50 persons, mostly employers and employees.

The meeting which was sponsored by the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce and the Missouri State

Labor regime. Such resentment has been reflected in recent public opinion polls, which claimed that the Conservatives would outdistance the Laborites by a wide margin in a national election.

Attlee's visit last night to ailing King George VI at Buckingham palace was taken here as a sign that he was about ready to call for an election. By British law he must ask the king to dissolve parliament and make an election possible.

Chamber of Commerce, was opened by Chester A. Brown, executive manager of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Brown introduced W. H. Brown, research director of the Missouri State Chamber of Commerce who discussed the threat of federalization of unemployment compensation which would cover every employer even those with one employee under the Unemployment Compensation Law.

Seventeen states are now under this law, the speaker said, and told what the Missouri State Chamber of Commerce proposed and is trying to do to better the law.

Mr. Brown then introduced Pete May from the Missouri Division of Employment, who explained in detail all workings of the law and its changes. During his talk Mr. May permitted questions which he answered. He told who was eligible, what they had to do, what workers have to do to be eligible and how much they would receive.

Wardens Fish With Radar To Net Illegal Fishermen

By NEA Service

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif.—One dark, quiet night off the beach at Santa Barbara a fisherman steered his small motor boat in close to the breakers. He settled down to he'd still be getting away with it legal netting.

He heard a patrol boat from the fish and game division prowling the waters nearby, but it didn't worry him. He knew from experience that at night a low boat near the breakers can't be seen by another boat cruising offshore.

But he didn't know that this boat was the 63-foot Marlin, newly equipped with radar. Instead of passing by, as usual, the patrol craft thundered straight to the violator and pinned him in the beam of a powerful searchlight.

Assistant Chief of Patrols Tom W. Schilling figures this violator had been getting away with this breaker-hugging trick for 20 years. And, since they didn't actually see him until the spotlight hit him, he'd be still getting away with it without radar.

Radar has been working to drive illegal fishing from California's coastal waters for three years. And the electronic device has done the job so well that conservation law violators have been virtually swept from the state's 1,000 miles of closed waters.

Only one boat, with nine crewmen aboard, has been arrested since this year. To officials, this indicates that illegal activity has practically ceased. Last year, 18 boats and 166 crewmen were arrested, with 736,500 pounds of fish confiscated. But the division wasn't interested in arrests, as such, as much as it was in driving the waters clear of violators.

"With our radar," says Schilling, "we could have made 10 arrests a night last sardine season, though we were more interested in warning violators before they actually started fishing."

Kenneth Hooker, skipper of the radar-equipped Bonito, thinks the preventive aspects of the radar fleet vitally important.

"They know we can always see them now, miles away, any time of the day or night," Hooker says. "They're very leery about coming inside the closed areas."

Before radar, night or a heavy fog gave illegals fishermen their chance. The only thing conservation boats could do was to stop and listen for boat engines, or watch for a careless crewman to show a lamp or light a cigarette on deck.

Radar changed that. Now the division's craft follow any boat in the closed area no matter what the visibility. They often wait until the suspected vessel makes for shore, then nab it with a big haul of illegal fish.

"As long as a fisherman felt he had a good chance to get away with a few illegal hauls," says Schilling, "he was willing to chance an occasional arrest. Now he figures the risk just isn't worthwhile. In a few years, an old-fashioned, red-handed case will be hard to find."

UN Boosts Land Value

NEW YORK — (P) — The City of New York, which spent $25,000,000 helping the United Nations get established in its new Manhattan headquarters, reports that land valuations in the vicinity of the building have risen nearly $60,000,000 in about five years.

Disease Strikes Red Chinese Labor Projects

HONG KONG — (P) — A dispatch from Peiping indirectly admits that disease epidemics are spreading in Red China's prison labor camps. The Red news agency dispatch said more than 460 medical students of the China National Medical College (formerly a Rockefeller-endowed school) and the medical college of Peiping National University have been sent to the disease areas.

It said most of them went to the Hual river conservancy project to aid the epidemic prevention corps of the ministry of health. The project is aimed at eventually controlling the rampaging Yellow river. The news agency mentioned kala azar as one of the diseases confronting the epidemic corps. Kala azar, little known to the western world, is carried by sand flies. Unless detected early it is almost always fatal.

Hog Raising Specialized

DES MOINES — (P) — The hog-raising business is getting more specialized. There are groups of farmers in this state who do nothing but raise little pigs for others to take over and fatten for market. A program devoted entirely to breeding and production of weanling pigs for sale to feeders is developing in the state. A number of "pig hatcheries" have been set up in recent months.

Departmentalization in hog raising has been gaining ground for the past 18 months in Iowa. The program seems particularly well adapted to the small-scale pig farmer who may not be equipped to raise hogs all the way from breeding to marketing.

Through Red Eyes

DES MOINES — (P) — In the Senate recently, Sen. Benton (D-Conn.) reading excerpts from a 1909 Soviet encyclopedia, quoted this item about Iowa: "State in the middle west of the United States. Large capricious production. All farmers are in great debt to the banks, and farmers' debts, even in the case of full owners, are more than 50 per cent of the value of the farms."

Burly Stevedore Wins Fair's Tatting Award

PONOMA, Calif., Sept. 19 — (P) — A 200-pound stevedore with muscles bulging the seams of his jacket won a blue ribbon at the Los Angeles county fair for tatting.

George L. Nance of San Pedro, Calif., got two first prizes, in fact; one for his tattooed collar and cuffs set and one for a pillow-case with tattooed edges and insets.

Nance first entered the domestic arts competition at the fair three years ago. It's said that his husky friends ribbed him so much that he had to use his fists on a few to prove that a man can tat if he wants to, and no back talk.

Prince Escapes Death

AMMAN, Jordan — (P) — The newspaper "Howal Alam" reports that young Prince Hussein, grandson of the late King Abdullah, narrowly escaped death himself when Abdullah was slain July 20 at a Jerusalem mosque.

"Howal Alam" said the assassin also fired at Hussein but that the bullet struck a metal decoration—the Order of Kawkab—which Abdullah had awarded only a few days previously to his grandson.

The bullet ricocheted off, obliterating the inscription on the decoration, the newspaper said.

'Youth' Proves a Point

STRUGA, Yugoslavia — (P) — Here in the Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia, the people — like an aging rooster — grow tougher as they grow older.

Josef Belevski turned 100 years old recently, still proud of his vigor. Nikola Kratovski, an old crony, scoffed that Joe was getting old. Naturally, Joe was annoyed, so he challenged Nikola to a foot race at 500 meters.

Nikola won. But only by the length of Joe's whiskers, carefully cultivated over the past century. It probably proves the old saying that a good young man is faster than an old one. For Nikola is just a youth — only 70 years old.

Spoilage In Grain

WASHINGTON — (P) — Grain spoilage due to weevils can develop very rapidly, the U. S. Department of Agriculture says.

Five generations of rice weevils can develop in 120 days, the department says. If conditions were ideal, one pair of weevils might produce 151,875,000,000 weevils in that time. Department men say ideal conditions are virtually impossible. But they point to the mathematical computation to show that farmers and grain storage men should watch closely for infestation.

They estimate that five to ten per cent of all stored grain is destroyed by pests.

Longevity Is Order of The Day

NEW YORK — (P) — In many countries the population is growing proportionately older and this is bringing changing emphasis in medicine, retirement plans, and other social and economic problems.

Look at France. "Geriatrics", journal of the American Geriatric Society, quotes French statistics showing that of France's 40-odd million population, 6,770,000 persons are 60 or more. Forty-three per cent of them are living in poverty, nine per cent in distressing conditions, and 41 per cent live modestly.

New York's Fiery Record

NEW YORK — (P) — There was a fire every 12 minutes on the average in New York City last year, according to figures of the fire department.

Alarms averaged 170 a day with 50 of them being false alarms or unnecessary calls. An average of 120 fires were extinguished daily — a total of 44,407 for the year.

Batory Switches Routes

BOMBAY — (P) — Poland will be the first iron curtain country to operate a regular passenger service by sea between India and Europe with the departure soon of the 14,300-ton "Batory."

Abandoning the Gdynia-United States service, the queen of the Polish ocean lines is opening service from Poland to India via Southampton, Gibraltar, Port Said, Suez, and Aden. India, maintaining its neutrality in the cold war, has paid little attention to possible significance of the new Polish link between Communist Europe and this country.

During its operations to the United States the "Batory" frequently was called a "spy ship" because of the passengers it carried, some of them allegedly undercover.

Iraq Assails U. N.

BAGHDAD, Iraq — (P) — The Iraq cabinet ruled that there would be no United Nations anniversary celebration here Oct. 24 as a protest against the U.N. attitude on Arab problems.

Retail Boomerang

SINGAPORE — (P) — Dealers in textiles in this British crown colony are worried—they're losing a lot of money. That's because their original idea was to make a lot of it.

The market is now flooded with Indian and Japanese textile materials and buying has sharply tapered off. When prices rose sharply because of the Korean War, many textile firms thought things were going to get much worse. So they bought up everything they could, placing extraordinarily big orders.

But the prices in Japan suddenly nosedived, and material which cost $1 per yard now is sold at 40 cents. The result: the price in Singapore has dropped to about 50 cents.

Arizona Scientist Takes Sting Out of Scorpion

By HOWARD DE WALD
NEA Special Correspondent
TEMPE, Ariz.—(NEA)—The scorpion is losing his sting of death.

The tiny, crab-like creatures are being captured and milked of their deadly venom to make an anti-scorpion serum that can save the lives of their victims.

Dr. Herbert L. Stahnke has appeared for 10,000 live scorpions to carry on his serum research and manufacture at Arizona State college. Residents of southern Arizona and adjoining states are going all out to comply.

They have good reason.

Although there are scorpions across three-fourths of the United States, arid southern Arizona and portions of adjacent states have the only known deadly species, Centruroides sculpturatus and Centruroides gertschi.

The death-dealing ones are only about an inch and a half long, but in a 20-year period, deaths from scorpions outnumbered fatalities from rattlesnake bites four to one.

The scorpion's tail is arched over its body when disturbed and the deadly sting is delivered when it uncoils the tail and sinks the tiny, hooked end into the victim.

Many present-day residents live in constant fear of unknowingly disturbing a scorpion in a shoe, clothing, woodpile, or anywhere there is moisture.

The chances of adults escaping death from the sting are good with proper treatment, but for children under five years the risk is grave.

Sometimes immediate treatment of ice packs helps, but usually if stung by the lethal scorpions the child will go into convulsions and be unable to breathe. A hole is cut into the windpipe to permit respiration, but even that sometimes fails to save the victim.

Dr. Stahnke, director of the Poisonous Animals Research Laboratory at Arizona State college, has been studying scorpions since 1935 and says death from their stings can be eliminated. He is a nationally-recognized authority on scorpions and their habits.

His greatest problem has been obtaining live, mature scorpions. A scorpion must be five years old before it is mature enough for "milking."

Another deterrent has been postal authorities who have such a healthy respect for scorpions they will not allow their shipment by mail. Many persons with captured scorpions have not contributed to Stahnke's collection because of the inconvenience of getting them to the laboratory.

Stahnke hopes to have serum in every hospital in the deadly scorpion area by Fall. Spring and Fall are the seasons when most scorpions are encountered.

Prior to Dr. Stahnke's work, the only anti-scorpion serum obtainable was from a Mexico City laboratory, but U. S. customs regulations stalled its import.

FRANKFURT, Germany—(P)—Note to Lonely Hearts: West Germany is probably the worst husband-hunting ground this side of Antarctica.

Guys with two left feet are snatched to the altar faster than you could sell a six-dollar milk coat.

The man shortage is terrific, a fact that causes cat grins in male circles and near-distraction among the gals. The West German statistical bureau's 1950 figures show that there are 2,800,000 more women in West Germany than men. The women aren't sitting back taking this situation without a fight. The newspapers are crammed with marriage ads from "attractive women, independent financially," etc.

If you want to buy, sell, rent or trade, use the Democrat class ads. Phone 1000.

FRANKFURT, Germany—(P)—Do billboards cause accidents? Some West German officials think so, and it is one of the big reasons West Germany's countryside is not obscured by signboards.

Most West Germans are opposed to highway advertising because it's unsightly. But some men in the West German government think a garish poster could draw a driver's attention from his work and cause an accident. Lately, a West German illustrated magazine in Munich has been hammering away for highway advertising. It contends that the government could sell the space and pick up a lot of money.

Germany's countryside, especially in the meadow and Alpine land of Bavaria, is among the most beautiful in the world. Most West Germans don't want it marked up, regardless of revenue.

FRANKFURT, Germany—(P)—Pastor Moves "Out Front" — The Rev. Samuel Simonds has been listening to his own sermons at his Percy, Ill., First Baptist church. The minister forsook the pulpit for a pew after a heart attack. While unable to preach, he listened with his congregation to his sermons recorded just as he had delivered them many Sundays before.

Natives Head for Red Island
"For Practical Reasons"
SINGAPORE—(P)—About 400 Hainanese most of them more than 30 years of age, are sailing for Communist-held Hainan without intention of returning to Singapore. They did not apply for re-entry visas.

One of the Hainanese said: "There is no security whatsoever for me in this country when I grow old and am unable to work."

Almost all bought new umbrellas, saying it rained heavily in the winter in Hainan and anyway the umbrellas were cheaper here.

Genuine "Old Cow Hand"
MILAN, Tenn.—(P)—How old must a cowboy be before he is too old to ride and rope?

It must be more than 71, because John K. Skinner is still riding "the range" out here in west Tennessee. Skinner's a real cowboy, mind you, with bowed legs and boots and spurs. And he says he keeps all six of his horses "rode down" and could use six more.

The old cowhand punches cattle on land leased by the Dogle Cattle Co. of Dexter, N. M., from Milan Arsenal Reservation near here. He has 1,030 head of cattle and 850 calves to look after.

Old John says he's been a cowboy since he ran away from school back in Oklahoma when he was 14. That's 57 years of riding horses and chasing doggies, and he still likes it.

Lebanese Want Ships
BEIRUT—(P)—Tiny Lebanon, once the home of great sailors, the Phoenicians, today has no merchant fleet, other than a few coastal vessels.

Abdulla Al-Mashnouk, editor of "Beirut Al-Massa," says he doesn't want a big fleet, but he does urge that the government help private companies buy "a number of modern ships" to sail under the Lebanese flag.

He said a mercantile fleet flying the Lebanese flag could transport passengers and goods between Lebanon and other Mediterranean countries, providing employment to thousands of unemployed.

Champion Milker
DES MOINES, Iowa—(P)—Mrs. Della Mae Hallberg, of near Charles City, who won the Mitchell County Fair women's milking contest, says milking a cow is "easy as washing dishes."

She says she used to milk 12 cows in an hour easily. She now milks 22 cows, but has had a milking machine the last five or six years.

"If I didn't have so many cows, I wouldn't care if I didn't have the machine on the place," she asserted.

Automotive Hint
A backfire seldom makes much noise. An explosion in the exhaust usually causes the loud report so often confused with a backfire.

All Day Meet By Homemakers

Mrs. Lee Hudson of La Monte entertained the Van Natta Homemakers for an all day meeting, Wednesday, September 12.

At the noon hour dinner was served to 14 members and the following visitors: George Landis, Fred Harris, Glenn Reynolds, Lee Hudson, Mrs. Glenn Reynolds, Mrs. Anna Marie Hasford, Aleah Robertson, Mrs. Fred Harding, Mrs. Frank Chaney and Mrs. Walter Birch.

Mrs. George Garrell, president, opened the meeting by leading the group in singing the club song. Roll call was answered and a short business session was held. Mrs. Anna Marie Hasford gave a book review after which she was presented with a gift.

Several sunshine gifts were given and the meeting was closed.

Next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Sam Long, October 10.

Talk Before PTA On Bookmobile

The Oak Grove P. T. A. met at the Oak Grove school Thursday, September 13 at 8 p. m. The meeting was opened by singing led by Rev. Pettis, song leader. The president, Mrs. Al Schreiner, presided over the business meeting. The devotional was given by Mrs. James H. Hosford. Announcements and reports were given by Mrs. B. S. Hutchinson. Following the business meeting Mrs. Schreiner turned the meeting over to Mrs. Hutchinson, program chairman.

Mrs. Donath presented the school children in a few numbers and introduced the children to the P. T. A.

Miss Margaret Gates, librarian of the Bookmobile gave a brief talk. She was assisted by Miss Reed. Miss Gates also showed some entertaining films.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Al Schreiner, Mrs. B. S. Hutchinson and Mrs. James H. Hosford.

President Truman Pans Ohio's Democratic Governor Lausche

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1951, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—(Jovial) Mike Di Salle, the price administrator, went down to the White House the other day and broke the news to President Truman that he wanted to retire from his prickly, unpopular price job on December 1.

Truman vigorously demurred. He protested that Mike must stay on, finally agreed only that he would discuss the matter again with Di Salle in November.

During the course of the conversation, the President asked Di Salle what he wanted to do when he went back to private life, and the price administrator replied that he wanted to wait and see what Frank Lausche, the present Democratic governor of Ohio, did.

Lausche, who refused to oppose Taft last year, is popular with Republicans and may run against GOP Senator Bricker. But if he doesn't, Di Salle told Truman, he would like to run himself.

"When we have a Democratic senator from Ohio," shot back the President, "let's have a real Democrat. Not a counterfeit like that fellow Lausche."

Results of Chibas' Suicide

Close observers of the Cuban political scene are now taking bets that the death of Sen. Eddy Chibas, crusading opposition leader who shot himself to give his party a "martyr," will actually pave the way for a return to power by Col. Fulgencio Batista, the island republic's onetime "strong man."

Repeated scandals in the present Cuban government and the preceding administration, both controlled by the authentic revolutionary party, have soured some of the citizenry on that organization. Popular Eddy Chibas' Cuban People's party seemed the likeliest heir to political power.

Trouble was that Chibas had been denouncing alleged thievery among office holders for so long that it was getting to be an old story. No one went to jail as a result of his charges and his principal backers, sensing a drop in public interest, began to ease up their contributions.

That was what preyed on Chibas' mind in recent weeks. He considered his costly Sunday night radio broadcasts indispensable to his party's success, and funds were getting scarcer every day. It will never be known definitely whether his dramatic suicide attempt was intended to succeed—as it did—or only to reclaim public attention. But it is certain that he thought personal martyrdom would be a political asset.

This might have been the case if he had lived. In death, his party—largely a one-man movement—has gained a lot of publicity but lost its irreplaceable leader. Meanwhile, Fulgencio Batista, the astute army sergeant who seized power in Cuba with the 1933 overthrow of Dictator Machado and held onto it for seven years, is in a prime position to benefit.

After eight years' exile in Florida, Batista got himself elected a senator and came home in 1948. Since then, he has built a small, smooth-running political machine called United Action. Capitalizing on labor troubles and Havana's high crime index, he and his associates have on the line that employer-worker relations and public order were much better under Batista.

Although pro-Communism was never part of Batista's stock in trade, Yanqui-baiting definitely was. That is why Cuba's Communist party, still strong among the sugar-field workers, has already begun campaigning for Batista-for-President in 1952.

Girl's Parents Often Set Too High Standards for Young Man

A college teacher asks: "Can't you write something for parents who try to discourage their daughters from marrying young men simply because the young couple will have to start out by living on a shoe string?"

"I have heard well-to-do parents brag about how little they had when they started out and then worry and fret over a daughter who wanted to marry a young man making a small salary."

"The mistake parents tend to make, I think, is in comparing what their daughter will have at the beginning of marriage with what they have after years of effort. They seem to want their daughters to start out with what they—the parents—have worked years to achieve."

She is right, of course. Even though parents themselves started out with nothing, they often have to see their children marry on little more than youth, health and hope.

They don't seem to have the faith in their children being able to make a go of it that they had in themselves. They want so many material things for their children. Yet when they were young, they too, were sure those things were not important at the start.

Look for Things Other Than Position

Actually parents would be wiser to worry over the character, educational background, and ambition of a young man than over the job he holds at the present moment.

If he has character, intelligence and ambition, their daughter is getting a prize.

She should be made to feel she is, to instead of being discouraged or made to feel it isn't right for her to have to struggle along while he is making his way in the world.

It is fine to be ambitious for your children, but not to the ex-

NO SURVIVORS

BY WILL HENRY

DISTRIBUTED BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: John Clayton, ex-Confederate colonel, took West after the Civil War. Following a gun duel with a crooked gambler in Kansas City he is engaged by Ed Geary to scout a wagon train across Indian country. On the road Geary is disturbed by the presence of soldiers when the whites are trying to arrange a treaty with the Indians.

WE had no trouble. Our wagons being all mule-drawn, the trail broad and clear this close to the fort, daybreak found us rattling into Laramie through the largest Indian encampment I'd ever seen.

As we forded the river, a group of about 50 mounted braves swept around one corner of the fort. In their lead rode a magnificent chief, tall, statuesque, his naked skin gleaming copper-red in the morning sun, a battle chief's full eagle-feather war bonnet shadowing his dark face and streaming down his muscular back. To my surprise, Ed and this splendid warrior greeted each other like long lost brothers.

After a moment's conversation in a language I thought was Cheyenne, the chief and his warriors rode off. I had the uncomfortable feeling the chief had taken too long a look at me while talking to Ed.

"That was Dull Knife, the Cheyenne. He is my brother."

I looked sharply at Geary to see if he were serious. He grinned at the earnestness of my expression and, offhandedly as though speaking of the weather, told me he was half Cheyenne, his mother and the mother of Dull Knife being sisters. Strange, the tricks of heredity. Looking at the two of us, one might very well take me for a blood Sioux, while my companion could be the typical white plainsman.

As if reading my thoughts, Geary at this moment remarked smilingly, "The chief wanted to know what tribe you were from."

Climate Isn't Considered Key Factor in the Treatment Of Tuberculosis

By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D. Written for NEA Service

Thousands of people when they first learn that they have tuberculosis wonder whether their chances would be improved if they moved to a different climate and if so, where would be best.

Q—What help does climate give for a slight case of tuberculosis? Are Arizona and New Mexico good?—Mrs. C. R.

A—It was formerly thought that high, dry, sunny regions such as many of those in Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado and elsewhere were particularly beneficial for a person suffering with tuberculosis. Many have sought such climates and have recovered their health.

Nevertheless there are other aspects of the care of tuberculosis which are probably more important than climate alone so that it is by no means always necessary to move elsewhere in order to obtain excellent treatment of the disease. In general it seems to be the feeling that climate is not as important as was formerly considered the case.

Q—Please tell me if cleansing and lubricating cream containing mineral oil grows hair on the face.—M. C.

A—There's no reason why it should.

Q—How can a person get imaginary illness off his mind?—L. B.

A—This is an extremely interesting question. Some people have more imagination than others and are constantly thinking that they superb outfit in code stark naked save for moccasins and breech-clout of black wolfskin. His skin-color was very dark, almost mahogany, his face thin, aquiline nose high-bridged wide mouth eyes set far apart and slanting; the chin beautifully chiseled and square.

I had guessed his identity when Geary, his voice for once excited, whispered in my ear, "Tashunka Witko! Crazy Horse!"

The council began. Well into the afternoon it ran. Taylor was skillful in debate and had the Indian's confidence. Red Cloud and Man-Afraid with many minor chiefs, were coming to a point of agreement.

Here, with success in view, the thing which Geary dreaded and against which he had warned Captain Fetterman, happened.

Down the long valley of the Platte gullions streaming, band playing, ammunition and field wagons rumbling, men shouting a lusty, "Hep Hep!" as they swung along, came Carrington's command.

The serried ranks of sub-chiefs began coming to their feet with the spreading action of a water-ripple moving out from a cast stone. Only Crazy Horse remained seated.

Yet when he spoke, all were still and Carrington listened.

"Where goes the Little White Chief with the troops?"

COL. HENRY B. CARRINGTON was a man totally unversed in Indian dealing, moreover a man of frank and honorable character. In so many words he told Crazy Horse exactly what his mission was.

"My orders are to march into the Powder River country, there to build forts and garrison them. The forts and soldiers are to guard the new road to Montana, the Bozeman Trail."

At this, Red Cloud burst out, his voice shaking with fury. "The Great Father sends us presents and wants a new road, but the Little White Chief goes with soldiers to steal that road before the Indians say yes or no!"

have every disease they read or hear about.

"One famous scientist remarked that when he studied medicine he thought he had every disease he studied except housemaid's knee. I don't know how to cure a hypochondria (which is the medical name for those who imagine themselves sick all the time) but they probably should not read too much about diseases."

Q—Is it possible to have kidney stones dissolved or have them passed through the bile or must they be removed by an operation?

A—This is really a mix-up. Kidney stones could not pass through the bile. Are you thinking of gallstones?

Skip Makes a Slip

Miss Gilbert, the teacher, was telling me how Skip Lawson almost went to sleep in her physics class.

She noticed him nodding and—since they were discussing electricity—said in a loud voice: "Now maybe MR. LAWSON will explain what electricity is." Skip started up, looked around wildly, and blurted out, "Gee! I used to know, but I forgot."

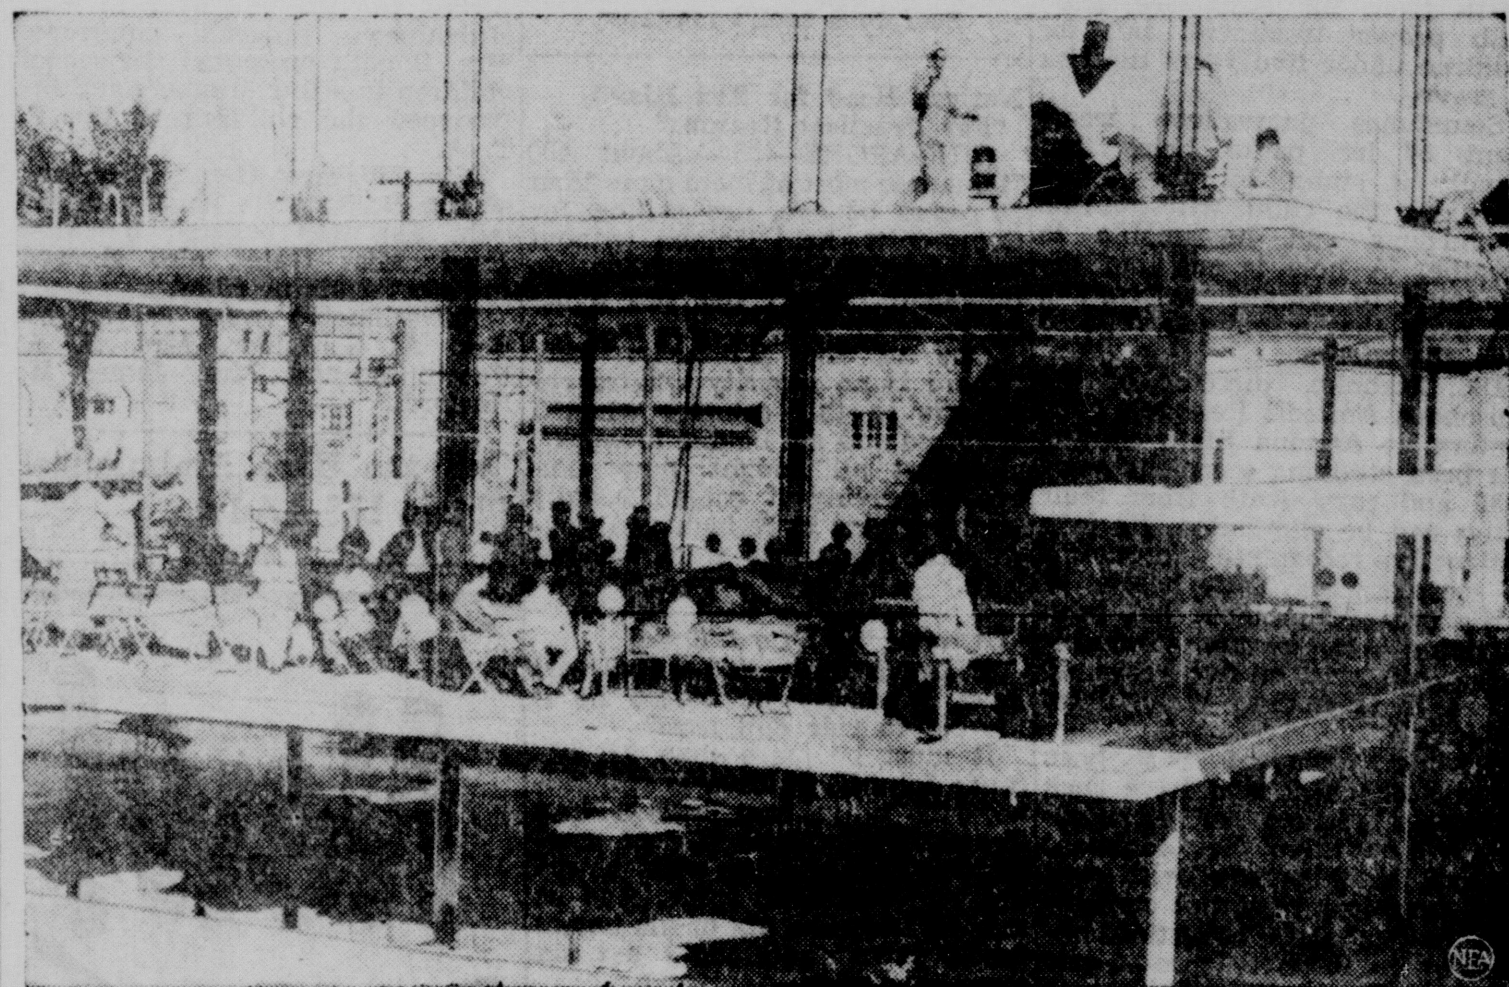

"What a loss to science!" sighs Miss Gilbert. "No one to this day knows what electricity really is, and here we have a genius who could explain it—but forgot!"

Moving Experience:

Up One Flight For Lunch---

Two hundred persons in Kansas City, Mo., began lunch on the ground floor of a building under construction, above, but when they had finished about an hour later they were one story up in the air, as seen below. The occasion was a demonstration of a building technique employing hydraulic lifts to move 200-ton slabs of concrete from the ground, where they are placed in position as the building floors. Arrow in lower photo points to control mechanism of the lifts. Promoters of the unique system, Philip Youtz, New York architect, and Tom Slick, Texas oil man, claim it saves about 50 cents a square foot in building costs.

ing of gallstones? As a matter of fact there is yet no practical method of dissolving either kind. A few pass by themselves so an operation is not always necessary in either variety.

Q—Do people get lung cancer from moth balls?—J. L. F.

A—I have never heard of this and would think it most unlikely.

Q—My granddaughter sucks her thumb and sometimes her fingers when she is sleepy. She will be two years old soon. She seldom does this during the day. Should we try to prevent her or pay no attention?—Mrs. H. S. S.

A—I understand that opinion among children's specialists is somewhat divided on whether it is best to leave thumb-sucking alone or try to prevent it. Perhaps if it lasts to the age of two or later an effort should be made to break the habit.

Q—I am suffering from enlargement of the prostate and have been advised to have an operation. What operation is the most modern and least serious?

A—Exactly which of several kinds of surgery should be performed depends on the degree of enlargement, the condition of the patient and the experience and judgment of the particular surgeon. The choice of what method to use should be left in the hands of the surgeon and not decided by the patient.

Former RAF Gunner Becomes Moslem Missionary

SINGAPORE—(P)—A former Royal Air Force gunner is going to Australia to establish a Moslem mission in either Brisbane or Melbourne. He is Ghulam Elahi Morris, who was known as George Morris until he abandoned his Christian name upon his conversion to the Moslem religion at Woking Mosque in England.

Morris said he would found the mission at his own expense and become a missionary.

German Red Draft

BONN, Germany — (P) — West German socialists claim that general military service will be introduced in the Soviet zone of Germany soon.

A review of East German recruitment, published by the headquarters of the Socialist party here says the "Volksarmee," a military cadre of approximately 55,000 officers and men, is ready to handle a flood of recruits.

Paper work for the large call-up has already been done, the review states, under the pretext of collecting workers for the uranium mines. Mass medical examinations were given to determine fitness for underground work. This information, the review says, can now be used as the basis for the future draft.

Education is Gained From The People

By Hal Boyle
NEW YORK—(P)—Confessions of a columnist:

They say a man ought to rear back every few years and take a look at his life—just to see if he's learned anything or is headed anywhere.

It is my turn to do that today. I have just finished eight years in the same old chair—writing a daily newspaper column.

That is the longest I have spent at one task since a successful eight-year hitch I served in grammar school, some time ago.

The thing I have found a man needs most to be a columnist is a two-pants suit. I don't know of any industry that, over a period of years, requires so much consecutive sitting-down. Most of your mental traveling is done in a chair.

A second essential a wise columnist acquires as soon as possible is a thoughtful expression—a good grey look of wisdom. After eight years of steady effort I still can't report complete success in this direction. Copy boys, passing my desk, nudge each other and ask: "Is he thinking or sleeping?"

The third thing a columnist ought to try for is an open mind, the ability always to see fresh woods and pastures in the human soul. This is the only real adventure in columning.

The rewards of the job have been completely unexpected. I had the idea eight years ago that a columnist spent his mornings giving consultations to anxious statesmen, his afternoons at the racetrack, and his evenings in a nightclub, being witty and wise. Naturally, he went home to a 15-room penthouse.

Didn't Work That Way
Well, bless us, it didn't turn out that way at all. President Truman has never solicited my advice, and if the government hasn't turned out the way some people hope, my conscience is clear. I've only been to two racetracks in eight years, and I know only one Manhattan night club headwaiter by name. But he doesn't know my name. And the penthouse? My wife says we are lucky to have an apartment in a building that has elevators.

The real reward of columning for me has been the perpetual discovery of interesting people. Far from contributing anything to them, I have myself gained an education from them. The human race, for all the sorry gravel mixed into its grit, is wonderful. Meeting the people I have given me a deep faith in the worth of people generally.

It has wiped cynicism from my being and made me an humble optimist. The letters I get from readers would do that even if I never got to meet the people themselves. They have taught me there is more hope for mankind than there is for rocks, and stones, and pollywogs and flowers.

The biggest danger a columnist faces, I think, is the danger of feeling he is important. Merely because he has an audience, large or small. But anytime he feels that way, if he just goes and looks at himself in the mirror, the feeling ought to pass away and be replaced by a belly laugh.

The prayer of most columnists is to make their deadline every day. But I think another good silent prayer might go something like this:

"Dear Lord, please don't let me get pontifical. Keep me from taking the easy way out and writing to please people's prejudices. Let the gain in the wisdom of a child, and keep what mind I have open and free."

Well, now let's see what the next eight years will bring.

Washington Tree Harvested
Piqua, Ohio—(P)—A 300-year-old tree once owned and prized by George Washington has produced 45,000 feet of handsomely figured veneers and lumber that ultimately will grace the interiors of many American homes, offices and public buildings in the form of wall paneling and furniture.

The giant walnut tree, harvested recently by Hartzell Industries of Piqua, member of The Veneer Association, served as a wilderness landmark to explorers and pioneers. Because the tree already was over mature, cutting became necessary to prevent further disintegration.

Towering 70 feet, the majestic hardwood tree had a crown spread greater than its height. Its trunk measured 50 inches in diameter, exclusive of bark, five feet above

Rebuild Germany's Famed Reichstag--

The shadows of history lurk over a reconstruction job now underway in Berlin. It is the partial rebuilding of the famed and infamous German Reichstag, which became a flaming symbol of Adolf Hitler's rise to power. The huge building, built in 1894, served as seat of the German legislature (except for years of World War I) until rise of Hitler in 1933. Its burning in February, 1933 — touched off by the Nazis, most experts agree — marked the start of an all-out purge of anti-Nazi elements in Germany. During World War II, the Reichstag was struck repeatedly by bombs, and its rubble became a fortress for SS troops during the Battle of Berlin in April, 1945. Below are photo glimpses of the rehabilitation job. (NEA-Acme photos by Staff Photographer Allyn Baum.)

Ghost of past. Battered helmet hangs from a spike, where it blew during battle.

Statue of Moses, "the giver of the laws," is raised by workmen in the Reichstag vestibule. The statue was thrown from its pedestal by Nazi vandals in 1934.

With hammers and picks, German workers batter down one of the bunkers in front of the Reichstag (left). These bunkers were used by German troops during the battle of Berlin.

the ground. Fifteen logs, totaling 3,700 log feet, were cut from the huge tree.

Need Specialists On the Airways

The Civil Aeronautics Administration needs Airways Operations Specialists (Radio Operators) and Radio Maintenance Technicians to operate and maintain the Federal Airways System in Alaska and Hawaii and the Pacific Islands. Airways Operations Specialists start at a salary of $3,100 p.a. and Radio Maintenance Technicians at $3,450 p.a. Applicants selected for employment receive 12 weeks indoctrination training at the CAA Aeronautical Center at Oklahoma City, Okla. Travel expenses to the place of duty are paid by the government. While in training at Oklahoma City employees receive a subsistence allowance of $9.00 a day for the first 15 days and $7.00 a day thereafter. After satisfactory completion of the indoctrination training and arrival at the overseas post of duty employees receive a cost of living allowance of 25% of their base pay when assigned to Alaska or the Pacific Islands or 20% if assigned to Hawaii. While all federal employments must be made under "indefinite" conditions at present the CAA is primarily interested in employing persons interested in career employment. Opportunities for promotion and transfer to more desirable posts of duty are good over substantial periods of time. New employees are required to sign an employment agreement that they will remain in CAA's service for a minimum period of one year. Full information about these jobs may be obtained from the Secretary of the Civil Service

U. S. Information Centers Curtailed

FRANKFURT (AP) — West Germans are protesting against a reduction of Amerika houses which they have used since the war to learn of the United States.

The U. S. high commission announced that, because of a budget cut, 12 of the 17 centers, where Germans borrow books and see documentary films free of charge, will be closed. Hundreds of protest letters have poured into the office of Mrs. Patricia van Delzen, of Los Angeles, Calif., head of the centers in West Germany and West Berlin.

More than 13,900,000 Germans used the Amerika house facilities in 1950. Book circulation was 3,300,000 during 1950, 42 per cent more than in 1949.

Master of Kites

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP) — Juan Garedo, a native of Guam, calls himself a master kite builder. He builds them in the shape of dragons, fish and devils. Others have rubber bands which make music when they fly. And some have two wings, like a biplane. Juan says Asia pays more attention to kites than America. Malays and East Indians fly kites, often in competition, like Americans play baseball he says. But he is sad these days because he cannot get good bamboo or Japanese rice paper to make the best kites. He says he could sell thousands of them if he could get the right material. He tells of one family which bought two kites "for the children." Then he got a letter from the children asking for two more kites. Papa and mama had been flying the first pair and the children wanted a chance.

Waxing Cuts Losses

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Mold damage to berries in the Northwest has been cut sharply by experiments of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Berries are picked into boxes. Berry juice soaks the boxes and forms a basis for mold. When boxes were waxed, the mold was not controlled. Other methods of control also failed. The experiments developed a waxing method that did control the mold. Large savings were made in berries that were formerly lost to mold. Other savings were made because the boxes waxed by the new process lasted three seasons instead of one.

Speed Saves Forests

WASHINGTON (AP) — Speed of attack on forest fires saves millions for America, the U. S. Forest Service says. It cites figures for three periods in a rough Rocky Mountain region. Before 1930 when fire fighters moved on foot and with horses, losses averaged $40,000,000 a year. In the 1930's when motor vehicles speeded attack losses dropped to $3,500,000 a year on the average. When planes and smoke jumpers were introduced the losses were cut to a $350,000-a-year average.

The six metals in the platinum group are so rare that the average annual production could be stored in a cube less than three and a half feet on a side.

Makes Pigs Grow Faster!

MAKES HEALTHIER PIGS!

The two things that a hog raiser is most interested in are producing as much pork as possible on as little feed as possible. Aurofac that is made by Lederle Laboratories is the answer. It is not a mineral and it is not a pig ration. IT IS A VITAMIN B-12 SUPPLEMENT AND ANTIBIOTIC.

It is to be mixed with regular pig ration regardless of whether it is home mixed or whether it is a commercial feed. Chances are that if it is a commercial feed it has some Aurofac in it. BUT...

Most of our users agree that it pays to mix about ten pounds per ton of total feed. In cases of "necro" and where pigs are not doing well it should be fed on a higher level (up to 27 pounds per ton).

We will be glad to give you names of farmers right here in this community who have been feeding it for months. Most universities and farm journals have well-written articles about Aurofac... investigate and increase your weight gains and cut down on common diseases of pigs.

Kemper Team Gets First Test Friday Night

Yellow Jackets Have 2 Lettermen On 1951 Eleven

Kemper Military Academy's 1951 football squad has only two lettermen and a few reserves from the 1950 team, but despite that fact it is almost impossible to determine their strength because of the annual turn-over of the student body at the all-male school.

The Yellow Jackets have been preparing for three weeks for their season's opener and initial Central Missouri conference game against the Smith-Cotton Tigers of Coach Ralph "Stub" Dow, who's team smashed Kemper last fall by 31-6 score, in a contest played at Liberty park.

Strength A Mystery

The strength of Kemper is definitely a mystery to S-C, but the Military coaching staff scouted the Smith-Cotton-Marshall game Friday night and gathered their opinion of the locals.

Dick Vigil, the Kemper coach, was impressed by the over-all strength and balance of the Tigers and declared the backfield looked particularly fine. The only individual Sedalia player he lauded was Floyd Burton, hard running left half. Burton tallied two touchdowns and an extra point against Marshall.

Vigil said nothing was definite for the Yellow Jackets offense, but indicated he had been drilling his boys on the short punt formation, the same offense Marshall used against Smith-Cotton.

He depends on Harley Moses and Bob McGee to carry the brunt of the Cadet attack. Moses is the quarter back and McGee operates from left half.

Tom Maxwell Ace Receiver
It was also indicated that the Black and Yellow of Kemper had an aerial game cooked up for the Bengals, who used a 6-3-2 defense against Marshall. Vigil claimed Tom Maxwell is his ace pass receiver.

His top linemen are Jerry Schmidt and Henry Musson, the two returning letter winners and Edward Kahn, a Chinese youth who enrolled at Kemper this year. Schmidt and Kahn are guards and Musson is a tackle.

Kemper's average line weight will be about 174 pounds per man, while the backfield may not average quite 150 pounds. This is considerable lighter than the average S-C overall weight.

The Kemper coach said his boys were improving, when asked how his team shaped up for the opener. However, he said, he was not a forecaster and since the majority of the team is un-tested, they are unpredictable.

The following Kemper players will probably start against Smith-Cotton.

Tom Maxwell, LE; Henry Musson, LT; Edward Kahn, LG; Dave Percyfield, C; Jerry Schmidt, RG; Bill Dunn, RT; Noll Majors, RE; Harley Moses, QB; Bob McGee, LH; Dave Adams, RB; and Gerald Gentry, FB.

The last Kemper victory over Smith-Cotton came in 1947 when they edged out a 6-0 triumph at the Kemper stadium.

Ouimet is Captain At St. Andrews; First From U.S.A.

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, Sept. 19.—(P)—A cannon booms today and Francis Ouimet of Boston drives himself into the role of captain of the Royal and Ancient golf club of St. Andrews.

It's the first time the honor has ever been bestowed on an American, the title in the past has been restricted largely to royalty. Bobby Jones, although beloved by the British, never made it.

Ouimet is honored for his 1913 victory over two famous British stars—Harry Vardon and Ted Ray—in the U. S. Open championship at Brookline, Mass., and for his years of service as captain of the U. S. Walker Cup team.

The elaborate ceremonies begin at 8 a.m., British time, the hour usually set for British executions. Hundreds of citizens are expected to rise at dawn to witness the show.

St. Paul Goes To Playoff

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 19.—(P)—St. Paul and Milwaukee will battle it out in the final round of the American Association playoff.

St. Paul defeated Louisville, 4-3, last night to win the first round of the playoffs, four games to one. The Saints open tonight against Milwaukee, first-round winner over Kansas City. The game will be played at Milwaukee.

Al Brancato doubled with two mates on base in the eighth inning to give the Giants their victory margin last night.

Louisville had entered the seventh inning leading 3-2.

Kent Peterson, reliever for John Huthford, was credited with the win. The loss was Jim Atkins'.

10 THE SEDALIA DEMOCRAT—Sedalia, Mo., Wed., Sept. 19, 1951

Fordham Unveils New Pass Combination for Missouri

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—(P)—Fordham's eastern record-breaking passing combination of Dick Doherty and Alan Phifer has gone out but the gloom isn't too heavy on Rose Hill.

Fordham opens its schedule against the University of Missouri in Columbia, Mo., this Saturday. Coach Ed Danowski and his staff believe they have another crack aerial team ready to be unveiled in sophomore quarterback Roger Franz and Ed Brown, junior end.

The pitching and catching combination showed well in a workout with the strong Princeton Tigers and Danowski is hoping that they will be just as good against Missouri.

Franz is a lanky 18-year-old who stands 6 feet 2 inches and weighs 190 pounds. He hails from Norwood, Ohio. Everyone here is high on him and he has been given special tutoring by the staff. He's a triple threat and a fine ball handler. He'll be running the Fordham T.

Franz is green, however, and worse still, will be making his debut on a foreign field.

"If he and the other sophomores don't get the jitters, he may do all right," says Danowski. "But if they fold up, we're through."

Brown is a 6-foot, 185-pound speech merchant from Jersey City, N. J., once he has a pass the 20-year-old flash is hard to catch.

Another speedster is Jack Hyatt, the left half. Hyatt is rated the fastest back at Fordham in ten years. He may be on the receiving end of a few of Franz' passes.

Joe Kozderka, a senior fullback from Bridgeport, Conn., and Dave Ficca, a chunky blocking back, will make up the rest of the starting backfield.

Fordham is fast and if the kids can come through they may equal the fine record of last year's team which won 8 and lost 1.

Missouri wasn't scouted last year and the Fordham coaches have been relying on movies of the Tigers' 1950 games to go by. The "B" squad has been using Missouri's split T plays and defensive patterns in practice this week.

Lou De Filippo, line coach, has been working extra hard with the offensive forward wall—the main Fordham weakness. The coaches know they have the offensive strength in the backfield and are trying to polish up the line's blocking and downfield sweeps.

Fordham is counting on Missouri to throw often. Eck Allen, backfield coach has the defensive backs covering pass receivers in their sleep.

From here it shapes up as a wide open game, unlike the first between the two schools in the Sugar Bowl in 1942. Fordham won that one 2-0 in a rainstorm and beat the Tigers again, 20-12, in a regular game in '42.

Sedalia Defeats Warrensburg Golf Team 20 Points

The Elm Hills Golf team, Sunday defeated the Warrensburg golf team by a 32½ to 12½ point score. The match had been scheduled for a week ago but was postponed because of rain.

Mayor Herb Studer was low score with a 75 while Bernard Stanfield, had the most birdies, four for the day, and shot a 76. Wesley Murphy tied Stanfield with a 76 and Ted Maloney was third with a 77.

John Kurtz, was low score player for the Warrensburg team with a 76. Audrey Leigh and Dr. H. G. Huettel tied for second with 83's.

The Invitational Open tournament is to be played at Elm Hills, Sunday September 23. Many entries have been received from over the state and more are anticipated by Rex Preston, course manager.

It will be an 18-hole tournament with the first nine holes to count as the qualifying round and also on the total 18-hole score.

There will be five flights: the Championship flight, "A", "B", "C", and "D" flights. There will be two trophies awarded in each flight.

Teeing off will continue through the morning and up to 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

No More Stymies In Match Play So Rule Book Shows

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, Sept. 19.—(P)—The stymie is dead in match play golf, effective Jan. 1, 1952.

Elimination of the stymie is the most significant of a new international code of the game which has now been adopted by the United States and Great Britain, the two big golf-playing nations.

The Royal and Ancient golf club yesterday approved the uniform rules, previously accepted by the United States Golf association.

Other principal rules in the new code:

1. Stroke and distance will be charged on all lost balls, out-of-bounds and unplayable lies. In the past Britain's penalty has been distance only on out of bounds.

2. The smaller British ball—1.62 inches in diameter compared with America's 1.68—will be permitted in international matches.

Graziano Odds Cut From Other Fights; He's Still Favored

DETROIT, Sept. 19.—(P)—Rocky Graziano's superior punching power makes him an 8-to-5 favorite in his scheduled 10-round middleweight bout with Tony Janiro here tonight.

The granite-chinned gladiator from the Bronx was a heavier favorite—12 to 5—in two previous bouts with the baby-faced scraper from Youngstown, Ohio.

The closeness of those fights, however, has cut the wagering margin.

Both fighters will be bidding for one of boxing's best "money shots"—a crack at Sugar Ray Robinson's 160-pound crown. The winner stands a good chance of gaining an engagement in February with Sugar Ray, the ring's hottest box office attraction at the moment.

Appears None Want Pennant, Leaders Lose

Yanks, Red Sox And Brooklyn All Falter Tuesday

By Joe Reichler

Associated Press Sports Writer

Say, doesn't anybody want to win the pennant?

That seems to be the picture today as the top contenders in the American and National leagues keep passing up chance after chance to take a stranglehold on first place.

The New York Yankees appeared on the way to the American League flag after winning those vital games from Cleveland Sunday and Monday.

So what happened? The Yankees blew a 7-1 decision to the fourth place Chicago White Sox last night. That cut their lead over the Indians from a full game to a microscopic three percentage points.

Now take Boston's third place Red Sox. Winner of six of their last seven starts, the Red Sox seemed ready to deliver the knockout punch to the groggy Indians. Instead, the Tribe sharpened their tomahawks and scalped the Bostonians, 6-4. The defeat left the Red Sox still two and a half games off the pace.

Giants On Dodgers' Necks
Even Brooklyn joined the act. Generally regarded as sure-fire world series participants, the Dodgers now find themselves hard put to keep the persistent New York Giants off their necks.

The Dodgers saw their once 13½ game lead shrink to three yesterday when they bowed to the St. Louis Cardinals, 7-1, as the Giants took a 6-5 squeaker from Cincinnati.

While there is some reason for Dodger alarm, it would still take a minor miracle for the Giants to overhaul them. Brooklyn owns a commanding five-game bulge in the important losing side. The Giants have only eight games left to play against the Dodgers' 12.

Yanks Have Loss Edge
That's where the Yankees have their edge, too—in the losing side. Cleveland has won two more than New York but the Indians also have lost two more. They have only seven games left to 11 for New York and 12 for Boston.

However, New York and Boston clash eight more times.

Pitcher Billy Pierce and outfielder Eddie Stewart collaborated to beat the Yankees. The little leaguer throttled the Yankees with eight hits for his 14th triumph. Stewart, an ex-Yankee, hit a home run to tie the score at 1-1, then shattered the deadlock with a bases-loaded single in the eighth which put the Sox in front, 3-1. Chicago added four more runs and routed Vic Raschi before the inning ended. The Yankee right-hander, who was gunning for his 20th victory, went down to his 10th defeat instead.

Garcia Wins No. 20
Mike Garcia, the strong-armed lefthander, was successful in his attempt for his 20th triumph. The Mexican hurler held the Red Sox to nine hits and helped himself to a mighty double in the Indians four-run sixth inning that sent Bill Wright down to his sixth defeat.

Young Tom Poholsky limited the Dodgers to eight hits in posting his sixth win for the Cards. A five-run fifth, ignited by rookie Vern Benson's home run off loser Ralph Branca, clinched the victory.

George Spencer helped Dave Koslo post his ninth New York victory with a sterling ninth inning relief job. The young right-hander retired pinch hitter Hank Edwards for the final out after the Reds had scored three times and had the tying and winning runs on base. Monte Irvin's 22nd homer in the fourth with one on proved to be the winning blow.

Browns Take Pair
Elsewhere, the St. Louis Browns swept a two-night doubleheader from Washington, 8-0 and 3-2; Detroit topped the Philadelphia Athletics, 8-6; Pittsburgh nipped Boston's Braves, 6-5 and Chicago's

2—Cards of Thanks

CASE, MRS. ANNA—We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation for the many acts of kindness and helpfulness during the long illness and at the time of the death of our beloved wife and mother. To the minister for his comforting words and to the musicians for the beautiful music and for the many floral tributes we are especially grateful.

The W. O. Case Family.

Philanthropist's Story
ABILENE, Tex.—(P)—The life story of Arthur Lee Wesson, Big Spring rancher, oil man and philanthropist, is told in a new book, "Adventuring with a Purpose." The book was written by Dr. Rupert N. Richardson, president of Hardin-Simmons university at Abilene. It was published by the Naylor Co. of San Antonio.

Wesson and the late Mrs. Wesson have donated about $2,500,000 to southern Baptist institutions. Wesson has cattle and oil interests in Texas, Montana, Arizona, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Colorado and northern Mexico.

First free library in the world was established at Manchester, England, in 1653.

Economy Cuts Complaints

MT. VERNON, Ill. — (P)—Economy cuts in Mt. Vernon city pay-rolls resulted recently in: (1) the elimination of tin can and rubbish collections and (2) an offer to citizens to use the city dump free.

Moreover, chances of complaining were cut. Citizens were advised that there would be no one to answer the street and alley department telephone, except for two hours a day.

Atom Troubles Cited
SINGAPORE.—(P)—Flax growing 100 miles from an American atom bomb test became radioactive after the explosion. RAF officers at Changi airport near here were told.

Donald Portway, master of St. Catherine's college, Cambridge university, lecturing to the men, said the flax was used to make paper in which films were packed. The atom radiations resulted in an "X-ray" effect which completely spoiled the films.

The test explosion in New Mexico, he said, turned the sands of the desert for miles around into a green, glass-like substance. Souvenir necklaces were made from this substance. He said the wearers became unaccountably ill and the trouble was finally traced to radioactivity in the "glass."

Portway asserted he thought that Soviet Russia lagged well behind the Allied powers in her atomic research and development.

The U. S. produces some 400 feature movies a year.

WARDS REGULAR 4.85 SELF-CLEANING SUPER HOUSE PAINT REDUCED

4.43 Gallon

Tests show Wards Super as good as, or better than, any other house paint. Any house paint wears out when the elements break down its oils. The more Linseed Oil a paint has, in the proper balance to the pigments, the longer it lasts, and Wards Super House Paint has a very high amount of Linseed Oil. This means you paint less often, and your house stays better looking longer. Wards Super House Paint contains Titanium Dioxide, the whitest, best hiding pigment known. Super is self-cleaning, made to allow rain to wash off dirt, keeps your home bright and clean. Easy to brush or spray, doesn't "pull" under the brush. Also in 8 colors.
